

An Interdisciplinary Research Project

FIRST RESEARCH WORKSHOP

The Economics of Private Sector Participation in Water and Sanitation

Paper:

“Economic problems with privatised water concessions in developing and transition countries”

David Hall

Public Services International Research Unit (PSIRU)
University of Greenwich

School of Geography and the Environment
University of Oxford
January 16, 2002

PRINWASS is supported by the European Commission under the Fifth Framework Programme 1998-2002 and contributes to the implementation of the Horizontal Programme “Confirming the International Role of Community Research”. The views and information in this document are the sole responsibility of the research consortium in charge of the project and do not represent the opinion of the European Commission. The Commission is not responsible for any use that might be made of data or other information appearing therein.

Contract: PL ICA4-2001-10041

David Hall is Director of Public Services International Research Unit (PSIRU) at the University of Greenwich. PSIRU monitors privatisation in utilities and public services worldwide, with the results published at www.psiru.org, and specialises in water, energy and healthcare. He has written a number of reports on water privatisation and restructuring. Before joining PSIRU he worked at the Public Services Privatisation Research Unit, which developed a database on privatisation for the UK trade unions. He had previously worked for trade union research units, and as a lecturer in higher education. He has written books on public expenditure and labour law.

For enquiries on this paper, contact David Hall:

D.J.Hall@gre.ac.uk

THE FULL LIST OF PSIRU REPORTS ARE AVAILABLE FOR DOWNLOADING AT:

<http://www.psiru.org/reportsindex.asp>